

Nancy Di Dia brings more than 25 years of experience in overall management and diversity, inclusion and engagement practices in corporate America to her role as Executive Director & Chief Diversity & Inclusion Officer for the Americas at Boehringer Ingelheim.

Nancy is an (ICF) International credentialed and certified Executive Coach and has been trained by Dr. David Rock's Neuroleadership Group on the neuroscience of leadership and impactful ways to engage the brain in coaching.

She is an active member of the advisory board of Hidden Brain Drain Task Force – and the Center for Talent Innovation – a think tank and research group of leading global companies which focuses on developing best practice models for companies seeking to recruit and retain diverse talent.

Over the past five years she has been the proud recipient of several awards for her work in Diversity & Inclusion as well as her industry wide efforts to improve diversity in clinical trials. This past year, Nancy was recognized for her leadership by the Girl Scouts of Connecticut as a woman of merit for her work in diversity and inclusion.

With Nancy's leadership and vision, Boehringer Ingelheim has been the proud recipient of numerous recognition such as the HRC Corporate Equality Index for the best places to work for LGBTQ employees, Disabilities Equality Index, (DEI) NAFE Top 60 and Working Mother Top 100 List, among others.